CANTERBURY TALES

INSTITUTO ISABEL DE ESPAÑA- 3ºESO-ABRIL 2014

Here we present our second term project work on Chaucer and Canterbury Tales.

Our English teachers asked us to read a Canterbury tale in groups of three and retold it in a modern version. We also had to write a script to act it at the school's theatre too.

We worked on it in our classes during seven sessions.

First we read the texts, then we discussed and decided what the moral was. After that we rewrote the tale and the script. And now we are learning our stories to represent them at the school's theatre.

This activities are included in a Clil Project about Medieval Times organized by English, History, Music Technology, P.E, Maths and Biology Teachers

The Knight's Tale" retold

"Some years ago in Spain, there was a Mayor, called Peter. He and his wife, Sarah, were the most important people in Murcia.

Sarah's beautiful sister, "La Jenny", lived with them. One day, Mayor Fernando begun a war against Peter, and he has won Alicante again.

When he heard this, Peter and his friends went to Alicante and killed Fernando. Two young Mobsters in Alicante, Bonifacio and Eustaquio, fought for Fernando but they were taken to see Pedro at the end of the fight. They were locked in a basement in Murcia, and the mayor went out of there.

Bonifacio and Eustaquio were prisoners in the basement for many weeks. One morning, Boni got up early and looked through the window. He saw a pool and a girl soaking up the Sun. She was the sister of Sara, "La Jenny". When Bonifacio saw this, he thought that she was a beautiful girl. Eustaquio give up and saw how Boni cry out because of Jenny. He said "What's the matter? Your face has gone white! Why did you cried out?". Bonifacio said "I've just seen the most beautiful girl in the world. I'd like to get out of this prison and take her as my wife. If I can't marry with her, I want to die!" Eustaquio jumped up quickly and looked out of the window. He saw Jenny and he felt in love with her too. "She is a beautiful lady, If she can't love me, I want to die!". Bonifacio was very angry when he heard what Eustaquio said "You can't steal my lady like that, I've seen her first!. When Eustaquio heard what Boni said to him, he said " you've seen her first, but I love her as much as you do! But we can't win her, we are prisoners in a basement in a unknown place. If one day we'll be free, the best of us will marry her". Mayor Peter had a good friend in Murcia called George. He knew the young mobster, Eustaquio, and liked him very much, and he discovered that he was Peter's prisoner. He said to Peter, "He is not like Fernando, please free him so he can live in the real world again". Peter freed Eustaquio again. Before Eustaquio left the basement and the street, he talked to Boni. "I must leave Murcia, but you can stay here and look at Jenny, luckily mother*r". Bonifacio was so sad. "You'll be free. Perhaps you return to Murcia with Mobsters and fight against Peter. If you win, 'sensual' Jenny will be yours". Then, the two mobsters said goodbye and Eustaquio left the basement. The young mobster went back to Alicante, and he thought about La Jenny every night and every day. One night, his inner demons visited him and said. "Go back to Murcia, Eustaquio. You'll be happy if you see Jenny one more time". Eustaquio jumped out of bed and cried "I'm so idiot, I'll go back immediately! If the mayor catches me, he'll shot me between my eyebrow, but I'm not afraid of death, if I can see my beautiful lady one more time!" He dressed up and then he said " Nobody will know me now, I can go to Murcia safely". Eustaquio went back to Murcia. Nobody knew who he was. He became one of Jenny's servants. He stayed in Jenny's house for six months and he was soon very popular, even Mayor Peter began to notice him.

All this time, poor Bonifacio was a prisoner in the basement. He was very unhappy but he could't escape. One day a Bonifacio's friend had an idea. He put a drugs mix into the guard's drink. The man fell asleep and Boni took his key opened the great door and he became free. He returned to Alicante and decided to return to Murcia with better equipment and kill mayor Peter. "Then I'll marry Jenny" he said. He escaped from there and think about to ride a Ferrari all night and to hide in the car's luggage during the day. Next morning, Eustaquio was with his tricycle, singing in the sunshine and saw a Ferrari so he went to take a selfie with it.

"La Jenny still doesn't know me", he said to himself sadly. "What can I do to win her love? Boni heard all the conversation and his face went as white as death. Eustaquio! he shouted. I'm going to kill you! Eustaquio was very surprised to see Boni, but he answered quietly, "Love is free", I'll always love Jenny but let's fight for her tomorrow. I'll meet you here. If you win, the lady will be yours. "Ok", Bonifacio said.

The next day, Bonifacio and Eustaquio met again and the great fight began. Mayor Peter, Sarah and La Jenny were driving in the street and heard the sound of the bullets. Soon, they saw the two mobsters.

"Stop!" Shouted Peter. " Why are you fighting like this?". "Mayor, we're two unhappy men" Answered Eustaquio. "You're our mayor. Kill me first, but kill Bonifacio too."

"This is Eustaquio", Bonifacio said. " Do you remember him? He works in Jenny's house. But he isn't really a servant. He is a mobster like me, he was in the basement with me many months ago. I am Bonifacio. I escaped from your basement. I love Jenny like Eustaquio. Kill me, and kill Eustaquio too."

The mayor was very angry. He wanted to kill them. "I'm going to kill you little mother*rs!" he shouted. But Sarah, La Jenny and all their babies began to cry. "No! No! These two fine young men mustn't die!". All the babies said "Oh, mayor! Please, don't kill Bonifacio and Eustaquio!". "All right," Peter said. "You can live, but you must promise that you'll never sell drugs in my street. You must always be my merchants. Ah, and you'll be my friends". "We promise, mayor" the mobsters said." We'll always be your friends and we'll sell our drugs in other countries". "La Jenny can't marry both of you" continued the mayor "but I've got a plan. Go home to Alicante and come back in one year. Each of you must bring a lot of weapons and a hundred of mobsters. After a fighting, La Jenny will marry the winner. Capicci?" The two mobsters went home to Alicante and began to get ready for the great fight.

After a year Boni and Eustaquio returned to Murcia with tanks and better equipped each one. They started the fight. At the end of the day Bonifacio was hurt and the fighting stopped.

"Eustaquio can marry Jenny now" said the mayor. Eustaquio had a car accident while he was celebrating the victory. People carried him carefully to hospital. "He is very ill" said the doctor. Eustaquio sent for Jenny and Bonifacio. "I've loved you so much, Jenny. And now I'm going to die for you. If you want a husband, marry Boni. It will make me happy. The people from Murcia cried for many days.

Months passed. People from Murcia and Alicante became friends. The drug market wasn't limited by boundaries. Since that day Bonifacio and Jenny were married and lived happily together.

That was only a story told by a Knight in the MiddleAge about how people will fight in the 20th century

The boy's lesson

Once upon a time, there was a teacher in our school who couldn't stand her students. They wanted to improve, but she always looked for the way to make them fail their exams.

Some years ago, there was a boy in her class who was very frustrated because he couldn't pass his exams despite his effort. He needed private lesson to study, so he went every afternoon to classes. One day, after school, he was walking to the academy where he had been studying since he had that horrible teacher at the high school. It was late, so he had to hurry up. The boy started to run, and a car ran over him. He couldn't live after that...

That night, the boy's ghost appeared at the teacher's house. She was really afraid but the boy calmed her down. At that time, the ghost began to talk to the teacher about the consequence of being a bad teacher with her students. He told her why he died and showed her images of the past, where the kids were crying because they couldn't pass the exams. She didn't want to change her way of working. Then, he showed her present images. Some students had fallen asleep with their books opened in their face. Others were still studying or they had fallen asleep on their table. The teacher didn't feel bad. The boy showed her what would happen if she continued being a bad teacher. There were a lot of young people without work and repeating courses. She started to cry because she didn't want to be the guilty of all that. She promised to improve as a teacher, and she did it.

The following morning, the teacher said sorry to all the students. They couldn't believe that! They thought about it for some minutes, but they decided to accept it. She began to help them and the exams became easier. The students started to pass them, so they were happier. But, for the teacher, it was a bit late, because she had to leave the school the next year because of her age.

When she did it, she was very sad, because she was sorry, but she couldn't already do anything, so she must pay the price for her actions.

The Wife of Bath's Tale.

This is the story about a girl whose life was changed by an accident.

Her name was Claudia and she was 17 years old. She wasn't too short but she wasn't tall either. She had long and brown hair and two gorgeous green eyes. Everybody loved her and she was very popular in her .

But the wonk Enrique, who nobody liked , wasn't keen on her at all: she was very selfish and bad to people that weren't at what she considered her level. That popularity and attention she had, had made of her a cruel and bad person.

The third of April, was Claudia's birthday, she was 18 years old and she wanted to give a huge party. Her dream was to be an adult, she would drive her own car and go to the models agency which had called her. At that night she received her present, a great red Mercedes that was waiting at the entrance. Without doubting she got in it and, with her parents permission, she went out with a friend of her who road it.

Two hours passed and the two guys didn't appear. Their parents were starting to worry about them when someone called and told to her parents that her child had had an accident and she was now going in an ambulance to the hospital. Apparently, her friend had surpass the speed limit trying to impress her. She didn't have important injuries, just some broken bones, but the heat and the explosion had burned her face and although doctors had heal most of it, her face wasn't the same anymore. Nobody would have recognised her then. Enrique knew about her accident and he started visiting her regularly during her two months of therapy, he was the only one that visited her. At first Claudia was a little bit unfriendly with him but she started knowing him and she realized how good he was.

She went back to the highschool and she noticed that the people who had considered to be her friends were now far from Claudia due to her disfigured face. The only support she had now was her family and Enrique. She started falling in love with him, that much, that she started watching him as the most handsome boy although she had laughed at him in the past, and Claudia knew that he felt the same. A new surgery was invented and it returned Claudia's beauty and she turned the same person who people remembered, but she was now not only physically beautiful but a good person too.

The Franklin's Tale.

Long ago in France, there lived a knight called Arveragus. He was in love with a beautiful lady called, Dorigen. She asked him to do a lot of difficult things. Arveragus had many adventures. Then he came back to his love, Dorigen.

-Now I know that you aren't afraid of anything. I love you as much as you love me. I want to marry you.

-I want to marry you, too.

Arveragus and Dorigen got married. But the knight was a man of war. So he sailed away. Dorigen couldn't sleep or eat when he was away.

-You'll die if you don't sleep and eat more.-said one of Dorigen friends.

Dorigen think a little bit.

-My husband's going to come home soon.

-You're feeling better, so come and have fun.

Dorigen saw great black rocks in the sea.

-I don't like those rocks. If a ship hits them,the men on the ship will die. Will my dear Arveragus be safe?

One day in spring, they went to a beautiful garden. One of the dancers in the garden was a man called Aurelius, he loved Dorigen with all his heart.

-I know that your heart lies over the sea with Arveragus. But I love you very much.- he said to her.

-You must never speak to me like that again. I love Averagus with all my heart.-Then she laughed and said- Aurelius, I will love you if you take away all the rocks from the sea.

-Is there no other way?-he asked.

-No, there's no other way.

Aurelius got very ill and his brother looked after him.

Aurelius told his brother everything. Then the two brothers talked with a magician. And he hid all the rock from the sea.

Then Aurelius came to Dorigen.

-I've done what you told me to do. All the black rocks have disappeared!

Dorigen ran down to the sea and looked for the rock.

-It's true!-she cried

Arveragus came home after two days. Dorigen told him the story.

-What should I do?- Dorigen asked Arveragus.

-You must keep your promise that's very important.

She kissed her husband goodbye and walked slowly towards to Aurelius. He looked at Dorigen. He saw her sad face and felt sorry for her.

-I'm doing a very bad thing. You love your husband, very much. I don't want to come between a man and his wife. You're the most loving wife I've ever met.

Then Dorigen went home and lived happily forever.

It was the first day of school after Christmas Holidays. There were three best friends in the class, Yara, Sophia and Leo. They were just 4 years old. The teacher Victoria decided to make the children bring their Santa's presents to school that day.

Once in the playground, they can play with their presents and share them.

Sophia: Hi Yara! I love your new SpongeBob toys!

Yara: Yes they're so cool, I love your new baby toy too!

Sophia and Yara: Hi Leo! Do you want to play with us?

Leo: Yes of course, give me your toys!

Yara: Can we use your ball too?

L: No, Santa gave it to me.

S: But you should share your presents like everyone does.

L: I said no.

Leo goes and play with the girls' toys, and don't let them play with his football ball. Sophia and Yara go to tell it to Victoria, that's not right.

S: Victoria, Leo don't want to share his present with us, but took ours!

Victoria: Hmm... let's talk with him.

Y: Yes let's do it.

Victoria: Leo, what's the problem? You can't use their presents if you don't share yours, you have to share it if you want they share theirs too. You haven't got the right to do that

L: But a ball is just for boys, girls don't play football.

V: That's not truth. Girls play football as much as boys do.

Y and S: Yeah we do!!

V: Calm down, don't be angry with each other. you can solve your problems just talking. Let's share your presents and be happy. You're too young to be sad!

Leo, Sophia, and Yara: Okay Mrs González, thank you. :)

Moral: You can't be greedy, and less with the ones who shares things with you.

The Nun's Priest's Tale

Narrator: There was a grandfather called Richard who lived with his two grandchildren, James and Emily in a poor house. It was night, the stories' time and grandpa wanted to tell them a good story to learn...

This is the story about some children that were friends.

Child 1: Guys! Last night I dreamt something incredible! A strong man came to my house at midnight and he tried to kidnap me... I'm so scared!

Child 2: John, don't say foolishness! It was just a dream...

Child 1: And you, Chloe, don't you believe me?

Child 3: The dreams, dreams are. It's impossible, nobody can kidnap you, friend.

Child 1: Ok...

Narrator: One day, suddenly a loud noise woke John up. He was surprised and went to look what had happened. Then he saw a very big dark man walking in his house. The child hid behind the sofa and when he could move, he ran away to Chloe's house. The man ran behind him.

Child 1: Chloe! Chloe! Open the door! Hurry up! Chloe, fast!

(Chloe opened the door and John entered the house and closed the door as fast as the blink of an eye)

Child 3: John! What is happening? Who is that man? Tell me John!

Child 1: I told you dreams can be true! And now this man wants to kidnap me Chloe!

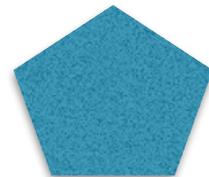

Child 3: Oh John! I was so stupid! I should have believed you when you said... Sorry, friend.

Narrator: The two friends never returned to doubt the word of each other. James and Emily were delighted with the story...

Emily: Grandpa, do you believe in dreams?

Grandfather: Of course little girl, life is fleeting but dreams give more life to things, and believing in dreams, you'll get farther as a person.

James: I have loved this tale, thanks dreamer.

The Franklin's Tale

Franklin was a rich manager. Franklin told the migrant a story about three promises. Arveragus was in love with a lady called Dorigen. They got married and went to live in Arveragu's home in Britany. The Knight's Tale

Retold by Amaya Mateos,
Lucas Santos, Ana Rivero

Once upon a time, there was a Russian president called Dimitri. He and his wife, Irina, were the most important people in Moscow. They had a beautiful daughter called Anastasia, who had a wonderful smile and amazing blue eyes, so all the people in Russia loved her.

One day, a minister came to the president's house and brought him really bad news.

"It has begun a war between Russia and Spain" he said.

So the president sent the Russian army to Spain to fight against the Spanish army. Alejandro and Arturo were two soldiers who fought for Spain in the war. They were hurt, and Dimitri took them to Russia, where he sent them to prison.

Arturo and Alejandro were prisoners for many years. One morning, Arturo got up early and looked through the window. He saw a beautiful girl, Anastasia, the president's daughter.

When he saw her, he cried out, because she was so pretty.

"What's the matter, Arturo?", asked Alejandro.

"I've just seen the most beautiful lady in the world" Arturo replied.

Alejandro looked through the window too and fell in love with Anastasia.

"She's so beautiful, I love her and I want to marry her" he decided.

A couple of months later, Dimitri saw his friend Rasputin and talked him about his Spanish prisoners. Rasputin said to him that Alejandro was a really good man and that he should take him out of prison.

"Ok, I'll free Alejandro, but he must leave Moscow. If he returns to Moscow, I'll kill him" said president Dimitri.

Alejandro said goodbye to Arturo and went back to Spain, but he was very sad without his beautiful Anastasia. He thought of her everyday and every night.

One night, he was sleeping and the Puss in Boots appeared in his dream. The cat told him that he should go back to Moscow and marry Anastasia, because she was the love of his life. He changed his clothes and his hair colour and went back to Russia, where he wasn't recognized. He became one of Anastasia's servants to be near her, and he stayed at the president Dimitri's house for three years.

All that time, the poor Arturo was a prisoner in jail. He was very sad. After years trying it, he finally escaped from the prison, and stole a gun from the guard while he was sleeping.

"Now, I'll return to Spain, but then I'll come back to Russia with a lot of money to impress president Dimitri, and I will marry Anastasia"

He ran to a Russian forest called Kornichkovak, where Arturo was walking. Suddenly, he saw Alejandro. He had changed, but Arturo recognized his old friend's eyes.

"Alejandro!!" he shouted.

They saluted each other and they started to talk about their lives. All was right, until Alejandro mentioned Anastasia.

"I love Anastasia", he said to his old friend.

"No! Anastasia is my lady! You or I must die!"

He took the gun that he stole to the guard and threatened Alejandro with it. But then, he remembered that he was his friend and he threw the gun away.

"Oh, sorry. Let's do this fairly"

"Yes" Alejandro agreed. "Tomorrow we'll meet at the president's house and we'll play to the darts. If you win, I will let you marry Anastasia"

That afternoon, Alejandro went to a church to pray God to win the competition, and Arturo went to a game zone to practice with the darts.

The next morning Alejandro and Arturo met again, and the competition began.

President Dimitri, his wife Irina, his friend Rasputin and the beautiful Anastasia watched the game.

Suddenly, Alejandro fell to the ground.

He broke his arm. Rasputin was a doctor so he could take care of him. He put him a plaster in his hand and Arturo won the competition.

A couple of days later, Alejandro went to see Arturo to his house and said to him:

"You won the competition, so you can marry Anastasia"

Arturo and Anastasia were married and Spain and Russia were never enemies again. But the most important lesson that Alejandro and Arturo learnt was that a good friend is really hard to find, and when you find it, you have to keep it. They kept their friendship forever.

THE COCK'S DREAM

Claudia Hernández Salabarría

This story is about a group of friends who were telling sad stories but one day a priest told them if they could tell a happy story. At the moment he started to talk about chaunticleer and pertelote, the cock and the hen. This is the story:

Englantine was a poor girl who lived in a farm with her parents who didn't have work. She had a cock, it was the lord of the hens, his name was Chaunticleer and his wife was called Pertelote.

One night Chaunticleer had a dream about a fox that wanted to kill him. Quickly he sent a whatsapp to his wife that said:

'My love, I had a dream about death. I feel very frightened!'

Pertelote that was looking at the newspaper in the computer, answered him:

Don't worry dearest, there was only a dream

Chaunticleer was a great talker and he read a lot of electronic books. He started to tell his wife about three dreams which came true. The three dreams talked about people that die in different circumstances.

Chaunticleer finished his stories and said "My dear

Peterlote I feel better now, I'm not frightened "

One day the bad dream of Chaunticleer came true. The fox that he saw in his dream caught him in his mouth and ran with him to the supermarket.

The people in the supermarket started to shout at the fox:

-Stop! stop!

Chaunticleer said: "sir fox you must turn round and speak to those stupid people say to them "go back home! When the fox opened his mouth to speak with the people. The cock quickly flew up into a high store. "Oh dear Sir Chaunticleer" said the fox as he looked up. "I didn't really want to eat you with chips and coca cola "ah!" replied the fox "I was the stupid one. I spoke When you were in my mouth shut"

One day, Bartolo and Jonny were talking in class, so the English teacher asked them to leave the room and stayed in the corridor for the rest of the class.

Jonny got bored and looked through the window, and suddenly, he saw the most beautiful girl he has ever seen before. Her name was Diana. She was playing volleyball in the playground.

Bartolo saw Jonny so excited that he asked him what happened. Suddenly, he saw Diana and thought that she was very pretty.

Jonny got angry because he saw Diana first and Bartolo couldn't like the same girl as him.

That year neither of them got enough courage to talk to her, but the following year Bartolo was in the same class.

They became friends, but she never felt the same about him.

Two years later, she got even prettier, and this time Bartolo and Jonny were in the same class as her.

Jonny and Bartolo discussed about who had got to ask her out.

Diana, that was listening to the whole time, told them that she liked both of them. But she couldn't decide.

For some reasons, Bartolo had to leave the high school, and Jonny and Diana went out on some dates.

When they finished school Jonny proposed to Diana and she said yes.

And they lived happily ever after.

Marianne's story based on the Franklin's tale

Retold by Carla Ojeda, Sara Rodríguez, Javier Ruiz.

It was a sunny day. Marianne and James lived together on the outskirts of the city. Marianne was a pretty woman with brown eyes and a long brown curly hair. James was a handsome man with green eyes and a short brown straight hair.

Everything was fine until someone came. It was a soldier. Mariannes had no idea who was him, but James knew it. The soldier asked for James and they spoke without Marianne. Then, the soldier left. "Who was him?" asked Marianne "No one darling" replied James "What did he want?" she asked again "Nothing darling" he answered "Tell me!" she shouted. After that, he explained her.

"Honey, I have to go" "where?" asked her scared "To Spain, to the war..." said the man sadly "No, you haven't, Don't go to the death!" said Marianne while she was crying "Tomorrow I will leave" explained him "Stay with me, please, don't go" said her. After the bad news they can't sleep all night.

Next morning James left and Marianne stayed alone with tears in her eyes.

Months passed, weeks, days and Marianne didn't meet with her friends and didn't eat well, she was only thinking about his husband.

One day, her best friend, Helen, talked to Marianne about her.

"what happens to you?" asked Helen "you know... him" answered Marianne "Forgot him for a moment!" said Helen "I can't" said Marianne sadly

"Well... this afternoon I am going to have a party... Do you want to come?" said Helen

"I am not sure about it... I think that I am not ready yet..." said Marianne.

"You need more than 6 months to go to a party?... ok, you are not well... so you need to come" said Helen

"Ok, I will... I need it" said Marianne with a smile

The party started at five o'clock, Marianne danced and speak with her people. Then Helen introduced his cousin, Carlos. "Hi! guys! this is Carlos, my cousin, he comes from Spain, he is a soldier girls..." she laughed

Carlos felt in love at the first sight. Everything was perfect in her, her eyes, her hair...

"Excuse me my lady, do you want to dance with me?" - Carlos asked "yes, of course" Marianne answered

They started to dance...

"I'm Carlos, and you?" said Carlos "I'm Marianne, but you can call me Marie" replied Marianne "Are you a friend of my cousin, Helen?" asked Carlos

"yes I am" answered Marie "Then started a slow song... You are so beautiful..." said Carlos "And why are you here?" she said, ignoring his comment "I am looking for my true love, and you?" told Carlos "I'm trying to forget my love... He is a soldier like you, and also he is in Spain" told Marie

"Who is him?" asked Carlos "James..." said Marie sadly "Has he got green eyes?" asked Carlos "Yes he has, Do you know him?" asked Marie with hope

"Yes, he is my friend and the boss is my friend too" said Carlos

"That's great! Is he alive?" asked Marie "He is fine, for the time being" said Carlos

"I miss him so much" said Marianne "Marie, I can talk to the boss and ask him if James can come back again..." said Carlos

"Do it! please, do it! I'll do everything to see him again..." said Marie

"Be my girl!" said Carlos "what!" shouted Marie "Yes, be my girlfriend, I love you Marie" said Carlos

"But you don't know me" said Marie "It's enough for me" said Carlos "But I love James" said Marie

"If you stay with me, I'll bring you James" said Carlos "Ok I will" said Marie "Promise me" said Carlos

"I promise you" said Marie "At the end of the dance they kissed and departed

Two days later James came back, when James came home he found Marie strange, she was happy but she was crying

"James you come back again, I miss you all the time" said Marie while she was hugging

"Yes, I know darling, the boss told me that my services are over" said James happy

"James... I'm so delighted because you are here but... I have to tell something, it's very important" said Marianne "Yes, tell me" said James

"I know how are you here now with me... I made a promise... you will come back if I will go..." told her

"Where?" asked James surprised "I am going with Carlos, you know him" said Marie

"impossible" replied James "it's true, I'm so sorry James, I love you so much and I want to stay beside you, but I made a promise" told her "you can't break a promise Marie" said James

"I know but... I want to be beside you" said Marie crying

"You can't break a promise, you should go out" said James sadly Marianne kissed James while she was hugging him. She took her suitcase and left.

When Marianne arrived at Carlo's house, he was waiting for her. Carlos went to her and kissed her. He took her suitcase and put it in his bedroom. Marie wasn't as delighted as Carlos expected.

"What happens? are you Ok?" said Carlos

"No, don't worry. I'm Ok" lied Marianne "You don't look like excited to come with me to live here." said Carlos

"Carlos, I'm sorry... I love you but I love James more. I'm here because I made a promise and I can't break a promise" explained Marie to him "You are right, I can not force you to love me, go out and stay with your true love" said Carlos

"really? but if I leave you, I break the promise" said Marie

"Understand me, I prefer you to be happy with someone you really love to be sad at my side" said Carlos

"Thank you Carlos, you bring my husband and also you allow me to stay with him instead with you" said Marie Then she took her suitcase and before leaving they kissed. She went to the door, she looked back to him and said:

"I love you Carlos, see you"

"Me too Marie, me too. If you need me, you know that I'm here" said Carlos Marie arrived at home and James was still there. He was looking at a picture of the wedding. Marie opened the door and came in. James looked at her and said:

"Did you forget something" said James "yes, I forgot that you are the most important to me in this world, I'm so sorry darling, forgive me" said Marie while she was crying

"Of course that I forgive honey" said James

Finally they kissed and then they lived happy together again.

THE PARDONER'S TALE

Once upon a time there were three policemen that were best friends. Their names were William, Richard and John, They were policemen, but William wasn't a good policeman, he was corrupt. While Richard and John defended the justice, William did illegal things and betrayed them.

One day, William got into trouble. He had made a lot of money, yes, of course. He was very rich but he wasn't happy. So, in the morning, the Mafia put William in charge of something new: kill his best friend, Richard, because he was interfering in a drug trafficking operation. William refused to do that, He had to draw the line. He couldn't do that, though he was betraying him, he couldn't kill a person.

At 3.00 p.m. he called the Mafia's boss.

—Hello? I'm William, I want to talk to you, Mr. Morey.

—Hello William, what do you want to talk about?

—I just wanted to talk about my mission. I can't do that. I want to give up the Mafia.

—What you can't do is to give up the Mafia! Once in the Mafia, nobody can give up alive. Kill him or I will kill you. — And he cut off.

«What should I do? —thought William—. I can't kill Richard, but I can't kill myself.

William didn't sleep well.

The next day, William woke up. He had breakfast, had a shower, but he had the same attitude : he wasn't going to be a murderer though a murderer was going to kill him.

Someone knocked at the door.

—Who are you?

—The Mafia, my friend —answered a voice.

—Ok, come in, come in —William opened the door and a strange and strong man came in. He had a handgun on his right hand.

—Have you changed your mind?

—No, I haven't, but... —BUM! William was dead.

John and Richard started to hear about William's dead. They decided to kill the hired killer and uncover the Mafia.

They started the investigation. While they were travelling, the phone rang.

—Hello? —asked Richard.

—I know where to find the Mafia and William's hired killer.

—Where? Where? —shouted John.

—Number 12 Werry Street. If you go there say the password: Gun, 1906. Be careful.

And they went there. They ran. They said the password. They came in and took out their handguns. The palace was a very cold, grey and strange place.

—Where is Mr. Morey? —asked John.

—There, in that room, but... who are you? —answered a man dressed in black.

—We are new —replied Richard.

—We want to talk to him, we want a mission —added John.

—Ok, but I'll be watching you.

They walked to the door and opened it.

They aimed the guns at Mr. Morey.

—Why have you killed my friend?! —shouted Richard.

—He didn't want to kill you.

—What?

—Don't believe in everything you hear.

—What are you talking about? —asked John.

—Well, well, let's forget this, I will give you some money.

—How much? —asked Richard and John at the same time.

—2 million £.

—Well... —They thought a little bit. «I will kill John and I will get all the money —thought Richard. »

«I will kill Richard and I will get all the money —thought John. »

—So, can we forget this?

—Of course.

They took the money and went out. They were on the street. They pointed at each other with the gun and shot, and Mr. Morey laughed loudly.

The Clerck's Tale

One day in the streets of Dubai, a very rich girl whose name was Victoria was walking on the beach. She discovered a poor boy that was fishing on the beach. He was very handsome, strong and young.

Victoria looked at his eyes that were blue like the sea. Immediately Victoria fell in love. So she started to speak to him.

She asked him: 'What does a boy like you do alone in this place?'

He answered: 'My name is Jordan and I'm here because I want to see the dusk.

She looked at his shining eyes, and he smiled her.

And... she met him in this way.

Two weeks later...

She was still thinking about him, but she believed that it would be an impossible love.

One day she went to the shopping centre near the beach where she met Jordan in the ice-cream parlor, there was a boy who was observing everything. She bought an ice-cream and suddenly, she ran into the ice-cream and threw it on his head.

And she said: 'oh sorry!' 'I beg your pardon!'

'Don't worry I have a Kleanex. And that will be the start of a romantic love. Later, they had a serious relationship. But Harry didn't fall in love. The only thing that he wanted, was Victoria's money. When he realized that she didn't have money, he would start to scream and fight.

A few days later Victoria and Harry were in the street. Harry

My story is about an strange girl. She was looking for a boyfriend, and this is her story:

Griselda was a young girl that lived in Italy. One day, her friends told her:

-You have to find a boyfriend, Griselda. You look sad and that will help you.

-It's true – said her. But she was in love with her neighbour, Walter. He was handsome and he had an iphone 5c.

One afternoon when she got home from high school, Walter got close to her and said:

-Griselda, would you go out with me?

-Yes, of course I would like to go out with you.

-Great!

So they went to the Starbucks and they started to go out.

Four years later, they married, and all their friends went to her wedding and were very happy.

For a long time they lived happily but, one day, Griselda went home and said:

-Walter, I have bought you a dog!

-I don't like dogs – he said. And he hit her in the face.

Then she thought: "I should have known" and she was sad because Walter was angry with her. So Griselda returned it to the pet shop.

That night she made the dinner and when Walter came to the kitchen he said:

-I don't like that food.

-Sorry.

Some months later they had a baby, and they called it Hemy. Walter didn't like it, so he took the girl to an orphanage. Griselda thought: "I must have done something wrong". She was very sad, so she went to the psychologist. He listened to her and said:

-That's not a good life, Walter is bad with you. You have the Stockholm syndrome, and you think that everything wrong is your fault. In my opinion, you shouldn't be with him anymore.

So Griselda left Walter and she married with Robert Patinson. They had many children and lived happily for the rest of their days.

Hello, I'm Gabriel and I'm the narrator. This is the conversation between two people who have the dreams of my story, "The Nun's Priest's Tale".

- Hey Mary! How are you?
- What do you think about dreams?
- Oh my God! Say hello at least!
- I am worried because I dreamt that my mother was in danger.
- But, that's not going to happen! Maybe you had a bad time and that's it!
- Yes! Maybe I am nervous. But what can I do to forget it?
- Be positive! You have to think that it was just a dream. Did you learn a lesson of it?
- Mmm.. yes. I argued with my mum yesterday and I thought that I wanted to leave home... And now I am very sad. So I learnt that my mother is everything to me. I really love her!
- Great! So go home and have dinner with her! I have to go too. See you!
- Thanks Peter! You made me think, bye.

Narrator-Many years ago there was a great soldier in Athens called duke Theseus. One day a soldier told Duke Theseus that Creon started a war against him. When he heard this, he went to Thebes and fought against Creon. He won. Two rich young men fought for Creon. Their names were Arcite and Palamon.

King-your families would pay a lot of money to free you, but you are my enemies, so you will never be free again.

Narrator-Palamon and Arcite were prisoners for many years. One day Palamon woke up early and looked out of the window. He saw Emily, the queen's sister.

Palamon-She is so beautiful!

Arcite-What's the matter Palamon? Your face has gone white.

Palamon-I've just seen the most beautiful lady in the world.

Narrator-Arcite looked out of the window and said.

Arcite-If she can't love me, I don't want to live.

Palamon-But you can't steal my lady like that.

Narrator-Duke Theseus had a good friend who was also a good friend of Arcite. When he found out about Arcite he talked to Duke Theseus. Duke Theseus decided to free him but only if he didn't come back to Athens. The young knight went back to Thebes, but he couldn't stop thinking about Emily. He couldn't sleep and he got sick. He was so sick, his face had changed.

Arcite-No one would recognise me, now I can go back to Athens.

Narrator-Arcite returned to Athens and worked as a slave for Emily. One day Palamon escaped from the tower and thought.

Palamon-I will return to Thebes now, but I'll come back to defeat Theseus and marry Emily.

Narrator-One day, while Palamon was walking to Thebes, he saw Arcite. They were angry. Palamon said.

Palamon-We will meet tomorrow and fight for Emily.

Narrator-The next day they started to fight. The Duke, the queen and Emily were passing by. They heard the two knights fighting.

King-You will go back to Thebes. Each one will bring 100 knights. You will fight, and whoever wins will marry Emily.

Narrator-A year later they fought and Arcite won. When he was celebrating, his victory Arcite fell off the horse and died. At the end Palamon married Emily.

Moral-Do not fall in love with somebody your friend already loves.

THE NUN'S PRIEST'S TALE

DIALOGUE

Narrator: There was a nun that was travelling with a priest. He told a happy story. The story is about a cock, called Chaunticleer and a hen called Pertelote. One morning Chaunticleer was doing a terrible noise when Pertelote heard him, she felt frightened too.

Pertelote: Oh, dear heart! What's the matter? Did you sleep badly?

Chaunticleer: My love, I've had a very bad dream and I still feel frightened.

Pertelote: What was your dream about, dearest? Tell me about it.

Chaunticleer: I dreamed that I saw an animal that looked like a dog, and it wanted to kill me.

Pertelote: Oh! I thought I had a brave husband, but you're having bad dreams because you eat too much.

Narrator: Chaunticleer told Pertelote three stories about dreams that were true, when he finished his stories he said:

Chaunticleer: My dear Pertelote, I feel better now.

Raquel Santana

Alvaro Muñoz

José Luis Pordomingo

Narrator: But while he was singing, a fox appeared and caught Chaunticleer. The seven hens followed them, then the other farm's animals.

Chaunticleer: Sir fox, you must turn around and speak to those stupid people. Go back home!

Fox: That's a good idea!

Narrator: When the fox opened his mouth to speak, he dropped Chaunticleer.

Fox: Oh, Sir Chaunticleer, I didn't want to eat you. Come down and talk to me.

Chaunticleer: No, I'm not coming down. I've been very stupid but now I understand you.

Fox: Ah! I was the stupid one. I spoke when you were in my mouth. I must keep my mouth shut.

Narrator: For this reason the fox felt stupid and

THE WIFE OF BATH'S TALE

NARRATOR (MARIA):

This is the story of the wife of Bath, a large woman with a red face. She wore a big hat and she rode on a very fat horse. The story she tells is about a knight at the time of King Arthur and his knight of the Round Table.

KING (PETER): This knight must die.

LADIES (ESPIAU): Please, please don't end this young man's life. He'll never make the same mistake again.

QUEEN (ESPIAU): You can live if you tell me the answer to this question: What does the woman want most in the entire world? I'll give you a year and a day to find the answer. If you can't find the answer you'll die.

NARRATOR (MARIA): The time passed by and the knight didn't find the answer. After a year, the knight had a return to the queen and gave her the answer. In the trees he saw twenty-four beautiful ladies! But then he could only see one very ugly, old woman.

WOMAN (ESPIAU): Sir Knight, are you looking for something?

KNIGHT (PETER): I need to find the answer of this question or I'll die:

Alejandro Espiau

Peter Bilduph

Maria de Armas

What does a woman want most in the entire world?

WOMAN (ESPIAU): I'll tell you the right answer if you promise me something.

KNIGHT (PETER): I promise.

WOMAN (ESPIAU): All women want to be the head of their house.

KNIGHT (PETER): (smile) Thank you.

KNIGHT (PETER): Queen, I know the answer.

NARRATOR (MARIA): Then the knight told the answer and she told him:

QUEEN (ESPIAU): You are right, you will be free.

NARRATOR (MARIA): Suddenly the ugly woman appeared and she told the knight:

WOMAN (ESPIAU): I want you to marry me. I now I'm old, but not everything is on outside.

KNIGHT (PETER): I'll marry you.

NARRATOR (MARIA): the knight kissed the ugly woman and the ugly woman became into a beautiful woman.

The Wife of Bath's Tale

This is the story about the time of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table.

Long time ago, there was a young knight who did a very bad thing, he broke the law that all the knights had to live by. When King Arthur heard this he was very angry.

The knight thanked the queen but he rode away very sadly.

As he rode through the country the knight asked a lot of people the queen question. But he was given many different answers.

After a year, the knight had to return and give the answer to the queen question. But then he came to a great wood. In a tree he saw twenty-four beautiful ladies.

Ugly old woman:

Hello can I help you?

Yes, I have the right answer but you have promised to me one thing.

All woman want to be the head of their house. They want their husbands to do what they say.

Do you remember something that you have promised to me?

Will you marry me?

Why are you so sad?

Is that your only problem?

Do you want a beautiful woman with a terrible inside?

QUEEN:

Please King Arthur, you have trusted me, I will tell a question to the knight but please don't kill him.

So, Sir knight the question is: What does a woman want most in all the world?, You have one year and one day to answer my question or you will die.

NARRATOR:

But where were they? He could only see a very ugly old woman.

The ugly old woman and the knight were on their way to the castle, then they arrived!

QUEEN:

Welcome Sir knight.

So, you have the answer to my question?

Your answer is right, you can live.

NARRATOR:

There was no dancing or singing at the wedding, the knight was very sad.

Then, the knight kissed her wife and for his surprise she was the most beautiful woman. The knight and the ugly old woman lived happily together all their lives.

The Pardoner's Tale

Characters:

Idaira: Pardoner.

Alejandro: Narrator and a young man.

Hugo: Another young man and an old man.

Script:

Alejandro (Narrator): The pardoner worked in churches and he told the next things.

Idaira (Pardoner): "If you do bad things, bad things will happen to you"

Alejandro (Narrator): For this reason, people gave money to him.

The pardoner was a very bad man because he sold pardons for money, but his stories were very good. He told the next story to pilgrims:

Idaira (Pardoner): One morning, three men were drinking when suddenly they heard a noise. People were carrying the body of a dead man.

Hugo (A man): Whose body is that?

Idaira (Pardoner): They noticed that it was the dead body of their friend and they decided to kill his murderer. While they were looking for the murderer, they met an old man who said:

Hugo (An old man): "God be with you, my young friends".

Alejandro (An old man): You stupid old man! Why are you wearing old those clothes?

Hugo (An old man): Because I am very old. I feel the cold and I can never get warm.

Alejandro (A man): Well, why have you lived for so long then?

You should die more quickly!

Hugo (An old man): I have been looking for Death all around the country.

(Laughs)

Idaira (Pardoner): The old man was very hurt because the three men had spoken to him unkindly. So, he decided to continue his journey to meet Death.

Alejandro (A man): No, you can't do that! We are going to kill him.

Quickly tell us where he is!

Hugo (An old man): I saw him near a great tree in the wood. He won't be afraid of you.

Idaira (Pardoner): When the three young men got there, they found a lot of money on the ground. So, they forgot Death and they began planning what to do with the money.

Hugo (Another young man): One of us must go back to the town for food and drink and the other two can hide in the wood to guard the money until night comes.

Idaira (Pardoner): So, as the youngest man went into town his friends planned how to kill him when he came back. In order to take all the money for both of them in halves. As the youngest man was walking to town he was thinking...

Idaira (Pardoner): Then, he bought three bottles of wine and he put the poison into two of them. After he arrived, they killed him and drank the poisoned wine.

Alejandro, Hugo, Idaira: So, they all found Death

Marina: Many year ago in Greece, there was a soldier called Duke Theseus. He and his wife, Queen Hippolyta, were the most important people in Athens. Emily, live with them. One day, a soldier brought the Duke Theseus some bad news.

Zuleyka: Creon has begun a war against you, Duke theseus. And he has won Thebes already.

Marina: When hi heard this, Theseus and his knights rode to Thebes. There they fought for Creon and they were hurt in the fighting. There were taken to see Thesusus at the end of the war.

Carlota: Your families will pay a lot of gold If I free you. But you're my enemies, and you'll never be free again.

Marina: The two knights were locked in a high tower in Athens. Then the duke rode home to Queen Hippolyta and her sister, Emily. One morning, Palamon got up early and looked out the window at the garden, And he said...

Carlota: I've just seen the most beautiful lady in the world.

Marina: Arcite jumped up quickly and looked out of the window. When he saw Emily, he also fell in love with her.

Zuleyka: If she can't love me, I don't want to live.

Carlota: But you can't sted my lady like that! I fell in love with her first, and I'll love her for ever. You must help me to win her.

Zuleyka: You saw her first but I love her as much as you do. And how can you or I win her? We're prisoners in this terrible tower.

Carlota: Perhaps we'll be free one day, and then, the best man will marry her.

Marina: Duke Theseus had a good friend called Duke Perotheus. He was a good friend of Arcite and said to the Duke Theseus...

Zuleyka: I'm very sorry tan Arcite's your prisoner. He is a good man. Dear friend, please, free him.

Carlota: I'll free Arcite for you. But If he does return, I cut of his head!

Marina: Arcite returned to Athens and worked as a slave for Emily. One day, Palamon escaped from the tower and thought...

Carlota: I'll return to Thebes now, I'll come back to defeat Theseus and marry Emily.

Marina: One day, Arcite was riding in the wood when he saw Palamon.

Zuleyka: Palamon! We'll fight for her tomorrow. If you win, the lady will be yours.

Carlota: Ok, I'll see you here tomorrow!

Marina: The next morning, they started to fight. The duke, the Queen and Emily were riding in the wood and heard the sound of fighting. The duke said to them...

Carlota: You'll go back to Thebes. Each one will bring 100 knights. The winner will marry Emily.

Marina: A year later, they fought and Arcite won. When he was celebrating his victory, the horse fell to the ground with him and Arcite died. At the end, Palamon married Emily.
